

CRAIN'S

NEW YORK BUSINESS

CRAINSNEWYORK.COM | DECEMBER 20, 2021 | CRAIN

Despite the gains for women in the legal field in both representation and pay, they still lag their male counterparts by a wide margin. The pandemic has made the situation worse.

The effects on women lawyers, especially those with children, during the pandemic were documented in a number of surveys in the past couple of years. Although all lawyers worked from home, women reported taking on a much larger share of child care and housework during that time, making it even harder than usual to rack up billable hours and shine in the boardroom.

It is against this challenging backdrop that the women chosen for Crain's 2022 Notable Women in Law list are even more remarkable.

This group of 119 women are exemplary in every way. These impressive attorneys were chosen not only for their skills and accomplishments in the courtroom, but for their leadership outside of it. In addition to their long hours representing everyone from executives at Fortune 500 companies to immigrants seeking asylum, our honorees this year shored up morale among their colleagues during the pandemic and found ways to keep business going in the face of turmoil.

To find these honorees, Crain's consulted with trusted sources in the legal industry and in the general New York business world. The many nominations submitted by organizations and individuals in the metropolitan area were carefully vetted. Each notable lawyer was selected for her outstanding professional achievements and her pro bono work or involvement with industry and community organizations.

VANESSA JACKSON

Partner

Davis Polk & Wardwell LLP

Vanessa Jackson, a partner in Davis Polk's preeminent finance practice, represents borrowers and lenders on a range of finance transactions that regularly involve billions of dollars. In the past year Jackson focused on clients in the hard-hit air industry, raising financing to help companies such as Aeromexico and Delta manage their liquidity to reach the other side of the pandemic. In addition, she played a lead role advising clients on the government's $600 billion Main Street Lending program. Jackson, a thought leader in the banking space, regularly speaks and writes on topics related to the industry, recently co-authoring a chapter in Chambers USA's "Banking & Finance" guide. She is an active member of her firm's diversity, equity and inclusion committee and its Black Affinity Group Steering Committee.
